He gives a vivid but reliable picture of the state of morale, religiou and domestic life among the "Border Rufflats" and "Settlers," and records the unprovoked wrongs endured by the Northern emigrants, in terms in which "nothing is extenuate, nor aught set down in mailee."

BAYARD TAYLOR.

1 vol., 12mo., with Riestrations. $1.50.

The history of this curious book is as follows:

Burton, an officer of the East India Company, having, by a long residence in Upper India, acquired a perfect Anowledge of the Oriental languages and customs, projected a visit under the auspices of the Rayal Geographical Society, to the Holy City of Mecca, and the Tomb of the Prophet at Medinah, places rarely, if ever before visited by any Englishman. This he successfully accomplished in 1853-4, discussed as a Mohammedan Dervish. The history of the piperimage is not surpassed in interest and originality by any book of travel ever published—embraciant his residence at Cairo as Mohammedan Student; the journey across the desert with the great annual carvan of Plaginias; the visition the tomb of Mohammed; the discovery that the sacred black stone of Mecca is an aerolite; the annual sermon preached at Mecra to an estimated andience of 150,000 Pligrims, gathered from all parts of the Moslem world; his narrow escapes from detection, and the only securate account of the cremonics of the Mussumson faith.

To the religious community this work farmishes information.

the Museuman faith.

To the religious community this work furnishes information never before unade public, respecting the ceremonial laws of a large propertion of the population of the Eastern world; while for general interest Burton's narrative will compare favorably with either Eothen, or Crescent and the Cross.
